Quite straightforward, then. Thanks for checking.

Years ago there was some type of survey of commissions around pre-submission or pre-award risk assessment. That is what you may be recalling.

Commissions are supposed to select their formula sub recipients according to our regulations and the state service plan.

Hi Jim,

Is there a document or guidance about what CNCS advises state commissions to consider in making formula grants? I am remembering that at one point Doug made specific questions for commissions to respond to and although I don't think that ever got used, I thought ASN asked commissions to fill out something or provides guidance to state commissions to help them decide which grantees to recommend for funding.

Is there something like this? Is it just for formula and competitive or only competitive? I am not up to speed on the current processes.

Thanks,
-Edith
